The appointment of a select committee by the Legislative Council to euquire into and arrange our postal matters so that they may fully meet the public necessities, gives us just ground to hope that the injurious interruption to which our mails have so long been subjected will now be stopped. It is unnecessary to enlarge upon the vital importance of regularity in the transmission of mails, for it effects the whole of society -domestic alike with public interests. Few countries have been so shamefully abused in this particular as British Columbia; and while she remains under the control of existing outside influences, we can see little hope for improvement. We suggested yesterday the propriety of subsidising the G. S. Wright to run to San Francisco-a vessel which, if not in every respect up to the necessities of our trade, could neverthel ss be made to work a complete revolution. In the first place, the company water ave boasts the possession of the "entire steam traffic of the coast and that they intend to retain it at all costs," can never be brought to .treat us with justice except through pecuniary arguments. So true is this that our sister city Portland, (although American) after allowing their opposition boats to be sold to the same company, have found they made a great mistake, and are now exerting themselves to redeem their error. If Portland receives unjust treatment, what else can Victoria expect? It would well pay this colony to subsidise the G. S. Wright even at $2000 a month, if she guarranteed two trips in that period. Such subsidy would work well in three ways-it would insure our merchants a constant receipt of their goods, and the public a constant receipt of their mails; it would afford those who wished to come to the country, and those who wished to leave it on business or otherwise the means of doing so quickly, and it would enable the Wright to battle out any opposition that might be brought against her to keep the monopoly where it is at present. We are convinced strong efforts would be made to retain the unbroken steam trade of the whole coass, the original object, by the way, of the monopoly which has ever sacrificed our interests to its convenience ; but, if we properly sustain the Wright, we can laugh at all such opposition, for the stronger it is the more good it will do us. One thing is certain, the Halladay line will not be withdrawn from this route, especially as it now connects with Sitka, if we put on the Wright; and it is equally certain that we are intended to pay for such addition to its gain. It a pretty little game but a common one. If they did not think proper to call here with such freight and passengers as they got at each end, they would be compelled to come for coal; and at times it is by no means a bad idea to let such people feel we are independent of them. It ment has promised to pay halt our postal expenses, we can really see no great obstacle to some such plan as we suggest being successfully carried out immediately. We have only to said cuts down the stilt-walking principle immensely. As the Home Governimmediately. We have only to add that the Wright might be permitted to call at Portland, either going down or coming up, which would ac-complish another good. It appears to us the opportunity has at last offered by which we can tree ourselves of one of our greatest evils; and we most earnestly but respectfully submit it to the consideration of the Executive and Select Committee, trusting it may re-ceive the attention due to its import-The telegraphic dispatches of last night bring us the most stirring news we have recrived for some time. First they announce the end of the Abyssinian war, which has been brought to a close thus speedily by s single battle, and a single victory, as complete in its results as it is gratifying to our national pride. A portion of the French and American press thought we were getting in'o serious trouble, by undertaking the punishment of Theodorus, and predicted all sorts of evil; but Gen Napier, up to the traditions of his name and country, has finished the affair with scarcely a single casualty, and in an almost incredibly short time. The booty and trophies of war were many and valuable, and the destruction of the hostile army complete. The telegraph supplies a list of the principal booty captured from the fortress and palace of this cruel braggart monarch, who perished amid the ruins of his Capital. Abyssinia is now ours by conquest, and a valuable addition it will prove to our dominion. The invasion and conquest If wisely regarded, may teach the world a wholesome lesson of what England is still capable when her honor is assailed or the rights of her subjects are invaded.

inue such congratulations, but the wires from another of our distant possessions brings news an distressing as the other is glorious. His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh, while in Sydney, was shot in the back by a Fenian named Farrell, in an attempt at assination more cold-blooded and hellish than any that has yet disgraced the crimestained career of this infernal order. Alstander of the company would be better for the country if the mine had been thrown open strongers. from another of our distant possessions brings stained career of this infernal order. Although the ball was not extracted until two days after the occurrence, and the wound thereby was naturally irritated and painful, the life of the Prince we rejoice to say is so far considered safe. The question becomes every day stronger, what is to be done with this cancerous excrescence which has grown upon our body politic? In order to make a tree grow properly and its fruit fully flavored, the pruning knife is used without remorse or hesitation when disease demands it. We do not believe in reprisals on general principles; but when the life of man becomes valueless in the estimation of these fiends, and intellect, virtue, youth and innocence, are but additional reasons for assassination, every true man lies under the deepest obligation to avenge society. The history of Feniarism is the blackest history of murder, assassination, rebellion, incendiarism, and crime in every shape the world ever knew. The sooner, therefore, it is blotted from existence the greater number of valuable lives will be spared hereafter. What wrong had the Prince ever done the Fenians? What good would his death do their cause? These questions answered honestly show the relationship of Fenianism with the world. It must be put down by the strong arm of the law, or life ceases to be eacure in any part of the British dominions.

Legislative Council.

Friday, April 24th, 1868.

Council met at 1 p m. Present, Hons Hamley, Stamp, Pemberton, DeCosmos, Cox, Young, (presiding) Creses, Spalding, Smith, Ball, Ker, Helmcken, Wood, Trutch, Walken, O'Reilly, Robson and Elwyn.

Hou Helmcken gase notice that he would bring in an Ordinance to increase the duties on Foreign Fruit.

Hon DeCosmos said that as the question of Confederation was one of such great importance to this Colony the discussion might be be deferred till evening. Deferred till evening accordingly.

DRAWBACK ORDINANCE.

Hon DeCosmos explained the nature of the Bill

the Bill.

Hon Hamley opposed the bill. The stock of spirits still on hand would not be consumed during the next two years. The difficulty of tracing original packages was the great obstacle to a system of drawbacks such as the bill proposed. The subject had been fully considered by the Executive Government and had been given up as impracticable.

Hon Helmcken thought the hon Collector of Customs was straining at a gnat. The difficulties in the way of such a system were not so great as represented.

difficulties in the way of such a system were not so great as represented.

Hon Robson opposed the bill. He never heard of such a system of drawbacks being applied to retail trade. He had had fifteen years' experience behind a counter and knew how impracticable it would be. Such a system might be very well in regard to the wholesale trade, as it alone had been applied in other countries. It would open the door to fraud and would prove more expensive to the Colony than advantageous.

Hon Ball thought the objections of the last speaker extremely fanciful. In consequence of our Tariff foreign trade had considerably declined and he thought any system good that would help us to regain it. It was true some modification was necessary in the Bill, declined and he thought any system good that would help us to regain it. It was true some modification was necessary in the Bill, but that could be done in committee. Hon Walkem was glad to hear the hon member, while holding his present position, speak on the subject as he did and entenciate such liberal views. If there was any modification necessary that could be arranged in committee. The amount proposed as the limit for drawbacks was small, but from small beginnings we should progress to great results. Everything must have a commencement. We should foster trade, which was the main thing. Instead of laddes buying small amounts, as suggested by the hon member for New Westminster, the system would induce merchants to come from the other side of the Sound and buy wholesale, other side of the Sound and buy wholesale, by which means they could supply such small parcels of goods to the ladies at home as could be supplied here.

Hon Crease said that by a clause in the bill the Executive was supposed to do the work which ought to be done in that Council. He was not surprised to see such measures brought forward. The Tariff was beginning to pinch Victorians and such bills were the an humble address to His Excellency the Governor, praying that the conditions asked by petitioners should be granted. All mining leases emanating from the hon Attorney General were marked by the same defect—the Royalties. The reason why similar conditions were not inserted in Cariboo leases was because they knew better up there than to accept such terms. We were just following in the footsteps of the Canadians, who, having the richest side of Luke Superior, retained it unworked, while on the American side there were forty millions of dollars in side there were forty millions of dollars in-

sted in mining.

Hon Trutch was prepared to go as far any Hon Trutch was prepared to go as far any one in a course of judicious liberality, but the terms demanded by that petition were contrary to the laws of the Colony, the laws it was his duty to support; hence the terms suggested by the Howe Sound Co. were impossible. It such changes in leases were permitted all leases under Government would apply for similar privileges. The company, by their agent, had prescribed their own conditions. The two per cent. Hon Cresse thought the bon mover of the retition had endeavored to lead the House to believe that it was owing to conditions of lesse that the requirette could not be obtained in California. But the hen gentleman should have told the House that money was hard to be got, and that the English gentleman who had examined the mine had come to the conclusion that the company had not yet clistovered a perfect lode. He

FROM THE NORTH-WEST COAST. Loss of the Schooner "Growler" with Twelve Lives.

Capt Forsaith, U S revenue officer, formerly stationed at Stekin, arrived on the steamer Fly yesterday morning via Nanaimo, to which place he came in the H B Co's steamer Otter. Capt Forsaith reports that while at Massett Harbor the natives reported the loss of a schooner (supposed to be the Growler from Victoria) with all on board, off Cape Murray about five weeks ago.

The Otter reached here last evening and brought confirmatory intelligence of the loss of the Growler. The Otter left Sitka on the 4th April. She arrived at Stekin on the 5th and landed Mr C Walden (who has been appointed Inspector of Customs there in the will proceed up the river to mine as 8000 as the ice breaks up. The Otter left Stekin on the 9th and arrived at Masset Harbor, Queen Charlotte Island, on the 11th. The Indians reported a schooner wrecked off Cape Murray. The bodies of three men and one woman were seen in the water. They were much lacerated by the action of the waves. One of the men, they say, was very tall. The Indians got two small kegs of liquor from the wreck and obtained some money by diving They brought over the quadrant (Norie, of London, maker,) for sale, and a gold breast pin, the latter of which is in the possession of Capt Lewis, and was identified by friends of Capt Coffin as having belonged to that gentleman. The Indians also say the schooner had three boats. One boat the Kaiganias have possession of and the other two were lost. The schooner is supposed to be the Growler. On her way down the Otter called at North Island, Fort Simpson, Metlakahtla, Bella Bella, Bella Coola, Fort Rupert, Desolution School Compared Manaigno.

The Growler sailed from Victoria on the 19th of March last with a cargo of general merchandise for Sitka, valued at $35,000, owned mostly at Port Townsend. THE BALL EXTRACTED AND THE PRINCE SENT HOME.

LONDON, April 25.—Startling intelligence has been received from Australia that Prince has been received from Australia that Prince Alfred, who is visiting Sydney, was shot and dangerously wounded. The culprit is an Irishman named Farrell, known to be connected with the Fenian organization. He shot the Prince in the back, on the 2nd of March. The ball was not extracted for two days. The wound is dangerous and painful, but the Prince is doing well, though his recovery will necessarily be slew; under medical advice he had sailed for England. Victoria to be proclaimed the Capital on Queen's Birthday.

Tuesday, April 28th, 1868. Council met at 1 p. m. Thirteen members present.

The following message was read:
The Governor having received the resolution of the Legislative Council, dated 2nd April, expressing their opinion that Victoria is the place most suitable for the Capital of the united colonies, Her Majesty's Government would seem to have the same opinion Under these circumstances, the Governor will cause to be proclaimed on the Queen's Birthday the selection of the Capital within the town which bears her royal name.

Royal Artillery.—Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—A scricant in the Royal Artillery writes, on December 12th, 1882, from Poonamattee, Madras Presidency, that his right leg, from the ankle to the calf, was a quagmire of disease and corruption that he was on the hospital roll for twelve months without any improvement in his twelve months without any improvement in his case; that he, as a forlorn hope, resolved to try Holloway's cilebrated Ointre nt and Pills. These soon gave ease, expelled the bad humours from the limb, healed and the apparently incurable sore, and restored him to sound health. Soldiers and sailors are earnestly recommended to hayer course to these invaluable needicaments for curing old wounds, sores, or ulcers—more particularly when they have arisen from imprudence, and seem incurable.

PIMPLES, BLOTCHES,

and roughness of the skin generally arise from depraved or vitiated humors. Bristol's Sarsaparilla is the best of all known purifiers of the blood and humors. This unfailing detergent neutralizes the poison, and occasional doses of Bristol's Sugarcoated Pills, taken at same time, purge out the unhealthy secretions, insuring smooth, white, soft skin.

FRED PAYNE has removed his Cheap Shaving Shop to the opposite side of Johnson street, just above the Miner's Saloon.
